under No. 44 March 2, 1879.

ESTABLISHED OCTOBER 5, 1869

Incorporated Under the Laws of Illinois

Founded by HENRY F. DONOVAN.

The Chicago Eagle, a newspaper for all classes of readers, is devoted to National, State and Local Politics; to the publication of Municipal, State, County and Sanitary District news; to comment on people in public life; to clean baseball and sports, and to the publication of General Information of Public Interest, Financial, Commercial and Political.

SATURDAY, MAY 22, 1920.

IGOE FOR COUNTY JUDGE.

The Democrats have decided to nominate Michael L. Igoe for county judge.

A better selection could not be made.

As Democratic leader in the legislature he has shown himself to be cool and able and fit to be trusted with any great responsibility.
He is honest and deservedly popular.

CHARLES H. WACKER.

The opening of the boulevard link adds to indebtedness of our fellow citizens to Charles H. Wacker.

Ten years of the Chicago Plan Commission under his able leadership have changed the face of Chicago for the better.

EAGLETS.

Northsiders are proud of the Camel Palace Garden. Its beauty is well worth seeing and its talented entertainers get rounds of well deserved applause.

Alderman Walter P. Stoffen of the Twenty-third ward, is making a good record in the City Council. He is one of the coming men of Chicago and the people are pleased with him.

The way to boost Chicago is to spend your money in Chicago with men who spend their money for Chicago.

Clarence S. Piggott stands high at the Bar and is respected by the people. He will be a judge some day and in the near future at that.

Colonel August W. Miller is often mentioned for state treasurer.

James Agar of the well known John Agar Packing Company would make a splendid state treasurer of Illinois.
He is a business man of high character and a political leader of force and ability.

The leading members of every society and club in Chicago read The Eagle.

John Powers has always served the people well as alderman from the Nineteenth ward.

Adam Ortseifen, one of the best of Chicago's City Treasurers, would make a good State Treasurer.

William H. Wesley is making a good record as city collector. The thousands of people who do business with his office all praise the up-to-date methods introduced by him and which add to the popularity of Mayor Thompson's administration.

William H. Wesley, the city collector, is one of the most popular of Mayor Thompson's cabinet. He gives satisfaction to the public and is the right man in the right place.

ADAMS ORTSEIFEN.

Popular Former City Treasurer Who Would Make a Strong Democratic Candidate for Governor.

C. A. Bickett, the well known and highly respected president of the Bickett Coal and Coke Company, although still a young man, has led a very active life and has been a potent figure in the business world for many years. Whether as president of the Chicago Bearing Metal Coke Company, the Bickett Coal and Coke Company, or as a director of the Fort Dearborn National Bank, he has won the high regard of the business public.

The North Side Turner Hall Restaurant, located at 520 North Clark street, is first-class in every respect.
The finest meals are being served there day and night by the best cook in Cook county, Mrs. Appel, and it is patronized by the best people in Chicago.

Violations of Sherman Law

The announcement of the appointment of Patrick R. Hilliard as a special assistant to United States Attorney General Palmer, to be permanently stationed in Chicago for the investigation and prosecution of violations of the Sherman anti-trust law, has started the lawyers discussing anew the decision of the United States Supreme court in the steel case. In this decision the court held that the United States Steel corporation is not a trust in the meaning of the Sherman anti-trust law. The opinion was read by Justice McKenna (portrait herewith). A dissenting opinion was read by Justice Day.

The majority opinion held, in effect, that the steel corporation had committed no overt acts violative of the Sherman law since the government's suit was filed; that though by its size and its control of equipment the corporation was in a position to dominate the trade, this was not to be considered, since there was no actual evidence that it did so. Finally—and this was the striking feature of the decision—it was held that to order the dissolution of the corporation would involve the risk of great disturbance to the financial and economic structure, and thus would menace the public interest, which was of paramount importance.

Barnett and His "Devil Dogs"

Maj. Gen. George Barnett, commandant of the United States Marine Corps, is traveling about the country on business connected with his corps.
In consequence there are numerous joyous reunions of these famous fighters. When General Barnett gets off a train the marines are there to meet him. They are glad to see him. And he is glad to see them. And nobody is obliged to conceal his feelings. It's a way they have in the marines.

General Barnett was born in Wisconsin in 1859 and was graduated from the United States Naval academy in 1881. Two years later he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the marines and he has been with them ever since.

There is a popular notion that the marines are "sailors and soldiers too." Well, they travel with the navy rather than with the army. But they don't help sail the ships. They are trained as infantry and artillery soldiers. And the marine corps is an independent branch of the military service.

The marine corps is the oldest branch of the military service and dates back to 1775. It is universally admitted to be the most famous body of fighting men in the world.

Duke of the Abruzzi: Patriot Arctic exploration and shooting the savagely polar bear, have no allurements at present for the duke of the Abruzzi, who is now engaged in the equally scientific if less hazardous task of investigating the commercial and agricultural possibilities of the Benadir Colony, East Africa, with a view to making it a source of income for Italy, and even eventually of rendering that country independent of other nations for her supplies of cotton and cereals.

The duke, in addition, intends to explore the sources of the Uebi Scebel river, which, rising in the high plateau of Hanar, toward Abyssinia, passes through the Italian colonies to the sea, and, it is believed, can easily be rendered navigable for small boats, besides being invaluable as a source of irrigation for the extensive agricultural enterprises which the duke hopes to initiate in Benadir.

The duke of the Abruzzi, with the experts who have accompanied him, is setting up two big experimental farms, where it will be demonstrated what immense harvests of cotton, doura, sugar and coffee can be obtained through irrigation, a system of intensive culture and the use of modern agricultural machines.

Josephus Daniels: Journalist

The autobiography of Josephus Daniels in the congressional directory says he is a "journalist by profession; formerly editor of the Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer." The secretary of the navy addressed the New York Press club recently and said, among other things:

"To be sure, a paper must be a 'map of busy life,' but we are as diligent to search out the meat in stories all around us of unselfish deeds as of the sordid performances? I tell you there was never a time when so many noble deeds illumined the lives of American men and women as in our day.

"And yet we newspaper men pass through these mines strewn with rich nuggets of pure gold and pick up and polish and place in our show windows the glittering imitations which we in-excessively pass off as the best the mine affords. Moreover, there is more human interest in the stories of saving and helping and encouraging than in the doings of the miners and sappers of society."
